Overview

Nate's experience includes representing all stakeholders in matters related to distressed credit and assets, including financial institutions, court appointed receivers and vendors. He often provides counsel regarding bankruptcy, workouts, and creditors' rights and has successfully litigated cases in multiple jurisdictions.

In addition to distressed credit and assets, Nate's practice also includes loan documentation, commercial real estate transactions, and difficult litigation related to property rights.

He has extensive knowledge of receiverships, and his receivership practice bridges multiple practice areas and involves both transactional and courtroom work. This experience allows Nate to look at complex legal issues from multiple angles thereby saving his clients valuable resources.
